Marine PROTECTION

The ultimate protection for harsh marine environments

Whatever type of boat you own, it deserves nothing but the best.

That's why boating enthusiasts worldwide — including owners of the world's finest mega yachts — choose System X® Marine Ceramic Protection from Element 119®.

Quite simply, they trust System X® to consistently provide unmatched paint protection, hardness, and brilliance. A paint-protection system that utilizes proprietary ceramic technologies, System X® doesn't work merely as a layered application. Instead, it interlocks its molecular structure with the surface molecules of the paintwork to literally become the functional surface of the boat's paint and gelcoat.

The result is a semi-permanent ceramic coating that won't wash off like wax, polish, or sealant. System X® exhibits outstanding resistance to friction, heat, pollutants, and solvents — for a finish that locks in long-lasting beauty, as well as peace of mind.
